CALL FOR EDITOR
Trans_ : An Anthology of Trans People and the Internet

Trans_: An Anthology of Trans People and the Internet is the first anthology to collect the voices and experiences of trans people speaking to how the Internet has impacted our lives and how we have impacted the Internet. This project kicked off in May 2014 to a very positive reception, ultimately receiving over 100 submissions. We are seeking a third editor to help with the editing process with a publication goal of Spring 2016. Editors will receive a monetary honorarium for their work.

The team currently consists of two transmasculine editors after the departure of a third editor. We are seeking a transfeminine addition, preferably with editing experience, and an interest in how trans lives intersect with the Internet.

To learn more, you can visit our website at http://transontheinter.net and view our original call for submissions here:
http://transontheinter.net/submit/CFP1-Trans_Anthology.pdf

Current Editor Bios

Mitch Kellaway
A trans writer and editor from Boston, MA. Previously, he has co-edited the anthology Manning Up: Transsexual Men on Finding Brotherhood, Family & Themselves (2014). His writing has been featured in The Advocate, Everyday Femininsm, The Huffington Post, and Original Plumbing. mitchkellaway.com // @MitchKellaway

Harlan Kellaway
 A trans application developer most interested in how tech and gender intersect, especially regarding trans communities. He has been involved in a number of projects including tech events for trans and gender nonconforming people, apps that benefit trans people, and social media strategy for projects benefiting trans and queer communities.
harlankellaway.com // @HarlanKellaway

Interested?

Email call.for.editor@transontheinter.net telling us why you'd like to join the project. We look forward to hearing from you!

January 3, 2015
Call for Editor - Trans_ : An Anthology of Trans People and the Internet
Email call.for.editor@transontheinter.net